The Community Service Society of New York (CSS) is an independent, nonprofit organization that helps New Yorkers in need defeat the problems of poverty and more fully participate in productive community life. For over 155 years, CSS has pursued a mission that is aimed at the poor but which benefits all: to identify and eradicate the problems creating and perpetuating poverty in New York City.

The CSS Associates are a group of concerned, dynamic people in the public and private sectors who've come together to put CSS in the spotlight — making current and future New York City leaders aware of CSS and its programs. The CSS Associates organize a variety of educational and fund-raising projects that focus on CSS and the vital work it does. If you have questions about the Associates or would like to join this dynamic group, please contact Jennifer Durst at 212-614-5585 or jdurst@cssny.org.
